

Nature Indoors!

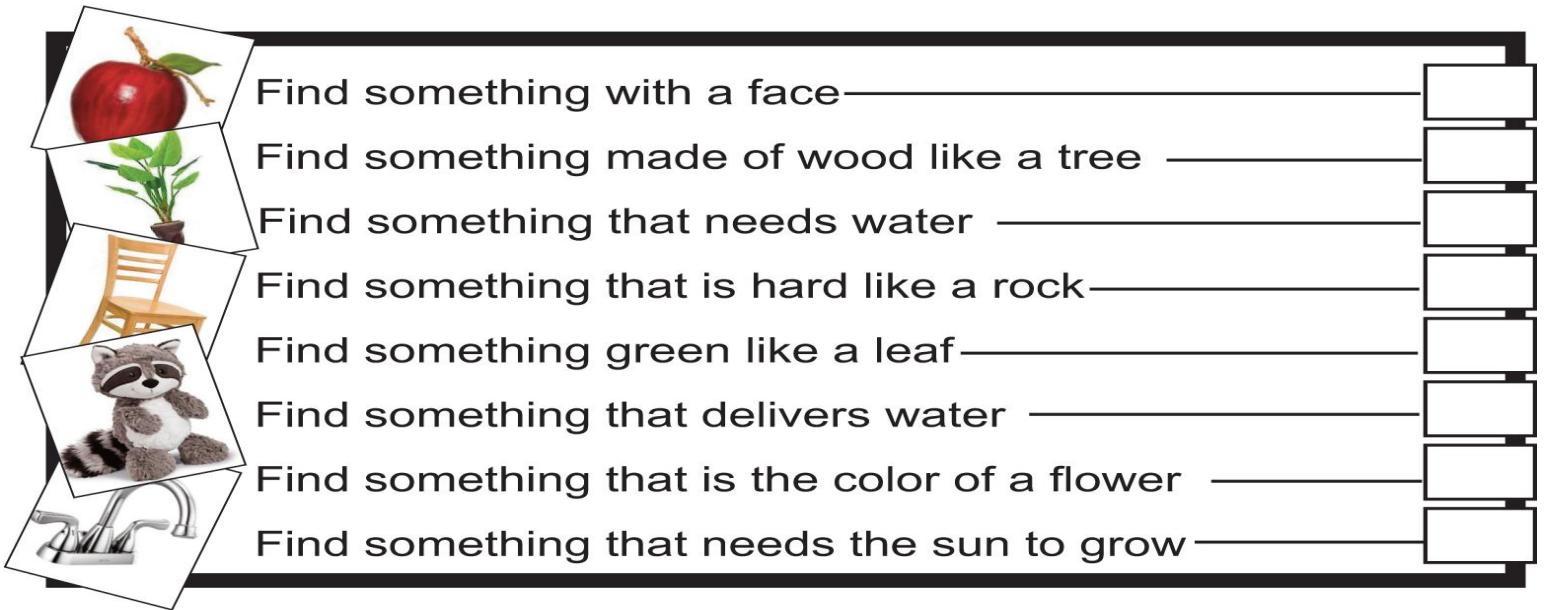

You can be inspired by nature even when you're indoors!

How to play:

- 1) Ask an adult to cut out the 2 game cards below (for 2 players) and find 2 pencils, crayons or pens
- 2) Set a timer for 1-minute
- 3) Look around the house and when you see something on the card, mark it with an "X"
- 4) When time's up, count up your "X's"
- 5) The person with the most "X's" wins
- 6) Talk about other things that live outside that match the game card descriptions

This game card features a vertical strip of six images on the left: a red apple, a green plant in a pot, a wooden chair, a stuffed raccoon, a silver faucet, and a white sink. To the right of these images are eight horizontal lines, each ending in a small empty square box. The lines are connected to the following text prompts:

- Find something with a face
- Find something made of wood like a tree
- Find something that needs water
- Find something that is hard like a rock
- Find something green like a leaf
- Find something that delivers water
- Find something that is the color of a flower
- Find something that needs the sun to grow

This game card is identical to the one above, featuring the same vertical strip of six images (apple, plant, chair, raccoon, faucet, sink) and eight horizontal lines leading to empty square boxes. The text prompts are the same:

- Find something with a face
- Find something made of wood like a tree
- Find something that needs water
- Find something that is hard like a rock
- Find something green like a leaf
- Find something that delivers water
- Find something that is the color of a flower
- Find something that needs the sun to grow
